FOREWORD

THERE is an old fable that when man first wandered on this earth, all things were drab and monotonous. After a time, when the newness of the plants and animals had worn off, man languished, and so the Creator, to keep him happy, put color into the world. Ever since the beauty of color has been a source of delight to the eye of man. We admire beautiful paintings for the coloring and for the technique of the master, but those who love and study flowers have found that for exquisite coloring and marvelous workmanship flowers and plants so far surpass human efforts that we exclaim, like the scientist of old: "Oh, God, I but think Thy thoughts after Thee."

After the strain of business or social obligations we may gain the peace and rest we need from our own secluded gardens, training a plant here and pulling out a weed there, all the while seeing the freshness and beauty of nature. So may we truly make recreation, re-creation.

A Field at Cherry Hill, June, 1920.

SHIPPING NOTES

All of the plants listed in this catalog are thrifty and vigorous plants, that will be dug as ordered and packed in a satisfactory manner, so as to reach their destination in the best of shape.

Small lots may be sent by parcel post, but larger lots we would recommend by express.

Be sure to state, when ordering, about when you wish your stock shipped, whether post or express, and your exact shipping point.

It may happen occasionally that our stock of a certain variety has been exhausted, and we will then substitute a similar color of a higher grade at the same price unless otherwise requested.

PEONY NOTES

Peonies, like ancestors, cannot be acquired in a day. They must have some time to become rooted, but when well established will last for many years. We often hear of some Peony plant which "has been growing in the garden since my grandmother's day." It is this feeling of permanence which is one of the charms of the Peony, for we know that it will appear above the ground just as surely as the spring comes, and that it will be of the same delicate shade, only bigger and better in size and form.

Some fifty years ago, the late Thomas C. Thurlow began to collect Peonies, sending to Europe for the choicest varieties. But what a change from the flower of that time. Many of the old favorites have stood the test of time, but under the skilful care of the propagators the Peony has been transformed, and he would be delighted could he see the wonderful blooms in such exquisite shades.

We have new varieties from all parts of Europe and this country, and test them before offering them, comparing the new ones with the best possible to be found. At different times we have absorbed other choice collections and offered them in our list, which we believe consists of as many really fine Peonies as may be found in any collection in the world.

Our own seedlings, which we offer in Series H, were sown over twenty years ago, and have been thoroughly tested and compared with the best of other originators. As they become better known, we believe they will attract wider attention. Our first variety, "Cherry Hill," introduced in 1915, had a greater call last year than in any previous season. Some very meritorious ones have not been put on the market as yet, as our stock is limited.

PEONY CULTURE

Peonies may be transplanted almost any time when the ground is not frozen, but the best time is in September and October, as the plants receive the least shock at that time and get well settled before making the next season's bloom. In the spring, if orders are sent early, we can dig and hold dormant, as we do not carry plants in cellar storage, but dig each order fresh as called for.

The size we list is a one-year plant, which is a plant divided and reset a year before, or, in some cases, in the rare varieties, a strong division. Many of our customers have told us that they divided the plants we sent them, but we strongly advise against this, as we know that small divisions will not recover for a number of years, and we have found from observation that plants may be permanently weakened by dividing oftener than once in two or three years. Peonies should have an opportunity to develop and "find" themselves before undergoing the shock of another division. Many plants which we have imported from Holland have been so small that it took years for them to develop, and we had to wait to see whether the new varieties were worth while or should not be admitted into the garden to displace others.

We have carefully selected our plants for propagation, choosing only those which were above the average in vigor and blooming qualities, and believe that we have developed a superior strain of Peonies which we are proud to call the "Cherry Hill strain."

Peonies do best in a light, rich loam, but in no case should manure be applied directly to the roots. It is not necessary to trench out a deep bed, but plant them in well-loosened soil to a depth of about two inches below the top of the ground. Deep planting is the most frequent cause of "blind" plants—that is plants which appear perfectly healthy but do not bloom. The buds on the plant should be about two inches below the top of the ground. We use a fertilizer containing considerable lime and potash in the fall, and some form of manure in the spring which acts as a tonic and, with liberal watering, will produce extra large flowers.

Those wishing quicker results will find the larger two and three-year plants offered will produce the desired effects. We have never seen a Peony plant which will produce its best bloom the first year after planting, but the clumps will be far ahead by the second year.

Very few diseases or pests affect Peonies. Of course rose-chafers will attack any flower, and the best way to destroy them is by hand picking. Sometimes, in gardens where too much manure has been applied every year, or in a very wet season, the stems will wilt down. These stems should be removed and air-slaked lime sprinkled on the ground. In very bad cases the plants should be lifted in the fall and the earth removed, putting in fresh soil.

SINGLE HERBACEOUS PEONIES SERIES A

50 cents each; $5.00 per dozen, except as noted

2 year clumps 75c each, $7.50 per dozen

3 year clumps $1.00 each, $10.00 per dozen

4 year clumps $1.25 each, $12.50 per dozen

The single-flowered Peonies are the first to bloom of the Chinese varieties and should be included in every collection, as the season is thus extended a week or more. To become acquainted with these beautiful flowers at their best, they should be seen growing in the garden, the large flowers of delicate tints showing masses of golden stamens seeming to float over the foliage. Almost all the varieties have a tendency to flower in clusters, and the effect of a large mass of pink and gold is especially pleasing. Many times they are more effective than the double varieties, as the single flowers show more individuality.

AREOS, broad silky petals of delicate shell pink changing lighter as flower matures. Very early.

CELESTE BROCHET (Brochet), milk white petals thickly sprinkled with minute dots of lilac, giving a total effect of pale lavender or faint pink. Stock limited. $2.50 each.

CLAIRETTE (Dessert), tall, strong stems with dark green foliage bearing very large pure white flowers. The petals are long and silky and the center mass of stamens is bright yellow. $2.50 each.

DEFIANCE, the striking contrast of the bright crimson petals and the golden stamens make the variety very effective for a spot of color in the garden. 75 cents each.

HERMES, a soft shade of deep shell pink.

LADY LILIAN OGLE (Kelway), faintly tinted bud, opening into pure white flowers. Strong, vigorous plants of a rather bushy habit. $1.50 each.

LA FIANCEE (Dessert 1902), large white flowers with a glowing mass of stamens. Tall, stiff stems and luxuriant foliage. $2.00 each.

MILLAIS, medium sized flowers of deep, dull red with yellow stamens.

MRS. KEY, a deep shade of glowing crimson. Very effective and one of the best of this color. 75 cents each.

PRINCE BISMARCK, deep crimson with golden stamens.

PRINCESS OF WALES (Barr), a beautiful shade of pink. The delicate flowers resemble wild roses. Our stock is limited. $2.00 each.

PURITY (Kelway), a free-blooming variety with extra large, pure white flowers. Very choice. $2.00 each.

ROSY DAWN (Barr), vigorous, branching habit, foliage large and dark green. Buds of faintly tinted pink changing into pure white in the open flower. Very desirable. $2.00 each.

SINGLE WHITE, from among our many thousands of seedlings we selected a number of the best. Glistening white flowers with golden stamens. $1.00 each.

THE QUEEN (Kelway), a beautiful single white, delicately suffused blush pink. Free blooming and vigorous. $1.50 each.

WHITLEYI MAJOR, quantities of blush-white flowers with golden hearts are borne on the strong stems. Foliage heavy and dark green. $1.50 each.

RARE SINGLE JAPANESE PEONIES

This class of Peonies is coming to be appreciated more and more. The flowers appear later than the Chinese singles and are distinguished from the latter by the almost total lack of pollen on the stamens. The stamens are large and in many cases form a thick cushion of gold. Although strong, the plants propagate slowly, and the number we have to offer is always limited.

DOG ROSE (Kelway), very delicate pink petals with rounded tips and a mass of golden stamens. Resembles the wild rose for which it is named. $3.00 each.

FLASHLIGHT (Hollis 1906), crimson petals with narrow central petals deep yellow with crimson shades. A most distinct and attractive flower. $5.00 each.

ISANI GIDUI, considered by many the best of all Japanese varieties. Stems strong and tall, bearing exquisite white blossoms of pure white with a thick round cushion of golden stamens. $10.00 each.

PERLE BLANCHE (Dessert), broad, rounded petals of pure white and a glowing mass of golden stamens. Very choice.

TAMATBAKO, broad petals of clear soft pink with a large center of yellow stamens. Foliage dark green. Not for sale.

WHITE LADY, dwarf plant but vigorous in growth, with light green foliage. Flowers of glistening white with a very thick mass of deep yellow stamens. The true variety is scarce. $10.00 each.

YESO, guard or outside petals pure white, narrow center petals white, shaded slightly yellow, with oftentimes a carmine top. $8.00 each.

LEMOINE'S HYBRIDS

These beautiful hybrids, produced by crossing the Chinese Peony with Paeonia wittmanniana, flower earlier than the Chinese singles, and are especially beautiful for their delicate coloring.

AVANT GARDE, single flower of pale smoky pink with golden tints and golden stamens. $3.50 each.

LE PRINTEMPS, a creamy yellow shade, difficult to describe, with faint reddish veinings at base of petals. Yellow stamens. $2.50 each.

MAIFLEURI, delicate flesh-white, with a rich creamy yellow overcolor. Very fine. $3.50 each.

PAEONIA LUTEA, a recently introduced species from Central Asia. Dwarf plant with deeply-cut foliage and small single flowers of deep buttercup yellow with reddish lights at base of petals. $3.00 each.

EUROPEAN PEONIES

The Peonies in this class have rather finely divided foliage and medium dwarf growth. The flowers appear nearly three weeks earlier than the Chinese varieties and give a much longer Peony season.

OFFICINALIS ROSEA PLENA, beautiful rose-pink flowers, fully double, possessing good substance, so that they will last for some time as cut flowers. 75 cents each.

OFFICINALIS RUBRA PLENA, the old-fashioned "piney" of our grandmothers' gardens. Bright blood-red with almost no trace of purple. With us it blooms about Memorial Day. 50 cents each.

ANOMALA, PETER BARR (Barr), the earliest to bloom in our collection. Single flowers of bright scarlet with golden yellow stamens. Finely-cut foliage adds a charm to this attractive variety. $2.50 each.

SMOUTHIA, this Peony follows close on the blooms of Peter Barr. Long silky petals of deep crimson and yellow stamens. $2.00 each.

For many years we have been raising seedling Peonies, and from the many thousands we have selected a few which had superior merit and which, we believe, are worthy of a place among the best ever produced. We have grown them under close observation for a number of years, noting and comparing their qualities from season to season, and have had the opinion of some of the leading Peony judges. PHLOX

There is no class of perennials which give a more spectacular bloom than the Phlox, with its masses of white, crimson, or pink, and for garden or border effects, and its long season of bloom through July, August and September make it most desirable. Oftentimes very pleasing effects may be obtained by planting groups in front of shrubbery, as it is usually strong enough to hold its own against the encroaching roots. Many of the varieties, in their delicate shades of shell-pink and lavender, make exquisite color combinations in the perennial garden.

Sometimes, in a wet season, the lower leaves are attacked by mildew and turn brown. This may be prevented by spraying with Bordeaux mixture or by dusting dry sulphur on the leaves. Do not use stable manure, as you will be liable to be annoyed with cut-worms. We would recommend pulverized sheep manure or wood ashes. If the seed-pods are cut off as soon as the flowers are wilted the plants will bloom again and there will be no seedlings to spring up and choke out the parent plant. These are usually purple and if left to grow will spoil the color effect planned.

JAPANESE IRIS—IRIS KAEMPFERI

The Japanese Iris is the last of the Irises to bloom, and it is truly the crowning Iris. When grown in a favorable location the flower stems will attain a height of nearly five feet and the blossoms a size of eight to twelve inches across. They should be planted in the early fall or spring, in a well-drained but not sandy soil. The ideal place is one which is rather dry in the winter and may be well watered in the spring up to the time of blooming, which is in this locality about the first of July. We have used leaf mold or peat muck worked into the soil, and this holds the moisture like a sponge.

This class of Iris is very scarce, as no large stocks are to be found. We have added to our collection from time to time, both by direct importations from Japan and from private gardens which had especially fine varieties. We are listing a number of varieties under number, as the Japanese names are so long, and if other varieties are desired we will be glad to have you advise us. We have a good many others not listed.

Price 35 cents each, $3.00 per dozen.

FLEUR-DE-LIS—LILY OF FRANCE

These beautiful flowers have been well called by some "Rainbow Flowers," for there is no shade or tint but what may be found in some measure among them.

The blossoming season usually opens with the dwarf Pumilas about the last of April and continues through May and early June, finishing up with the Siberian varieties.

Iris may be planted in any well-drained soil and with safety almost any time when the ground is not frozen, but to secure the best results they should be put in the soil either in April or after the first of August.

Plant the tubers or roots so that they will be about one inch below the surface and put wood ashes or potato fertilizer on the surface and rake lightly in.

The following varieties have undergone the testing-out process and can be heartily recommended as among the best.

In the description given "S" signifies standards and "F" indicates falls.

HERBACEOUS PLANTS

We do not attempt to carry a long line of perennials, but our aim has been to grow the BEST, both in variety and in the size of the plants. In many cases we can furnish strong clumps which will produce an immediate effect and give color to the perennial border throughout the season.

Sometimes certain varieties are superior to the type and we have discarded those which have not distinct coloring and free-blooming habits.

Some varieties are very scarce, as the foreign supply has been cut off, and these varieties we are able to furnish in small quantities only, for this season.

We have, many times, plants in our gardens which are not listed, and would be glad to advise you by special correspondence if certain articles are desired.
